

Living with a pressure ulcer – a patient and carer perspective

Brian and Yvonne Rawson

In conversation with

Delia Muir

Patient and Public Involvement Lead

Institute of Clinical Trials Research

University of Leeds

Living With a Pressure Ulcer – a patient and carer perspective.

Brian and Yvonne Rawson - PURSUN UK

Delia Muir - Patient and Public Involvement Officer, University of Leeds

PURSUN UK

- A network of people with some personal experience of pressure ulcers or pressure ulcer prevention
- We work on pressure ulcer related research projects
- Our members are also involved in education and professional development projects

Patient Stories

- Real life stories are powerful and can create a common focus
- Patients and their families are often the only constant thing in their journey through services, therefore their perspective very valuable
- We hope that hearing about the impact that a pressure ulcer can have will help to drive home important prevention messages

Brian and Yvonne's Story

For more information contact:

Delia Muir (PPI Officer)

d.p.muir@leeds.ac.uk

www.pursun.org.uk

Twitter @PURSUN_UK

Or talk to us over lunch

Comfort Break

#stopthepressurelincoln